

Join the Chattahoochee Valley Historical Society:

We need your support if we are to continue our efforts to preserve and interpret the heritage of our people and the places of this Chattahoochee Valley area of Alabama and Georgia. Our efforts are being sustained by 180 generous members from our valley and from many states across the nation. We are primarily a small group of older citizens who sincerely appreciate the families, the good people and the communities which over historical time contributed to the personal growth and development of all of our citizens. We are motivated to discover and preserve the many stories of our people and places. We want to present that information in an interpretative manner which might be accepted as culturally if not personally instructive.

Our Society is 63 years old. It has attained a respected reputation in Alabama for its association with the Cobb Memorial Archives and publishing local histories. Help us sustain our efforts to preserve and interpret our stories.

Please join our membership and, as possible, provide additional support and assistance. We are a small organization and we know and appreciate all our members. 11/16
